STATE MUSEUM

The state museum is a "must" item

SEREMBAN LAKE GARDENS

The Seremban Lake Gardens is one of the most picturesque gardens in the country. Its lush greenery and well-maintained lawns are a delight to the tired eye and often have a calming effect on many a weary soul.

There are jogging tracks in The Lake Gardens for the more energetic visitor while children can frolic in the playground. For those who are contented to watch the world go by, this is just the place with benches erected in various spots overlooking the lake and greenery.

STATE LIBRARY

Situated in the vicinity of the Seremban Lake Gardens is the state library which used to be the State Secretariat Building. Built in 1912 by B.P. Habback of Britain with the assistance of the state Public Works Department, this stately building reflects the colonial architecture of a bygone era.

SRI MENANTI PALACE / ROYAL MUSEUM

Negeri Sembilan's rich traditions go back a long way. One of these has been manifested in the construction of the Sri Menanti Palace in Sri Menanti. Built at the turn of this century to replace an older palace which was burnt down, this uniquely constructed palace has now become a tourist attraction after it was turned into a Royal Museum in 1992.

The Sri Menanti Palace was the official residence of the royal family until 1931 when it was found to be inadequate for the growing functions of the state. Designed by two local craftsmen and carpenters, "Tukang Kahar" and "Tukang Taib", the wooden palace or "Istana Lama" (old palace), which was completed in about six years in 1908, was built without the aid of any nails or screws. The palace, which features 99 magnificent pillars to denote 99 warriors of various "luak" or clans, is often the subject of study and research among students of architecture.

NEGERI SEMBILAN

INTRODUCTION

Negeri Sembilan, which is just about 50 km south of the nation's capital, Kuala Lumpur, is one of the earliest tourism draws of the country. Thanks to the existence of a beach resort known as Port Dickson, it has received countless streams of visitors seeking fun and splash under the sun. With the completion of the Kuala Lumpur Seremban Highway which subsequently became part of the North South Expressway, accessibility into the state has improved considerably. One can also reach Seremban, the state capital, by rail and the town's railway station is one of the attractive landmarks in town.

Measuring 6,645 sq km, Negeri Sembilan offers more than just beaches. There is a little bit of everything for everyone, from the history buff right to the nature lover. A first time visitor to Negeri Sembilan would perhaps be drawn to the significant feature of a great majority of traditional houses which have the distinctive style of the Minangkabau people who had migrated across the Straits of Melaka from Sumatra centuries ago. Their traditional houses consist of sweeping buffalo horn shaped roof peaks and such features have even been incorporated in newer buildings like the State Mosque and the State Secretariat Building.

Interestingly, the Minangkabaus of Negeri Sembilan still practice the matrilineal social system known as the "adat perpatih" making the state the only one to adhere to such social norms.

PLACES OF INTEREST

CULTURAL HANDICRAFT COMPLEX

The Complex, which has been modeled along the traditional Minangkabau dwelling, is located on a four-hectare site along Jalan Labu. Various handicraft items and historical artifacts are on display in this Complex which seeks to preserve Negeri Sembilan's rich cultural traditions.

STATE MUSEUM

The state museum is a "must" item for local history lovers. Located within the grounds of the Cultural Handicraft Complex, it is actually an old wooden palace which has been reassembled for public viewing. Built entirely of wood, this palace which has seen greater days of royal splendor at its old site at Kampung Ampang Tinggi, houses various old and historical artifacts which will interest those with a keen eye for local history, like weapons as well as brass and silverware. Also on display is a tableau portraying a grand royal wedding.

Situated next to the state museum is the "Rumah Minang", depicting an actual Minangkabau house. Also found at the Complex grounds are the megaliths from Fort Kempas.

STATE MOSQUE

The state mosque is adorned with nine pillars to symbolize the nine districts. Described as one of the most attractive modern mosques in the country, it offers a scenic view of the Seremban Lake amidst the tranquility of its surroundings.

PEDAS HOT SPRINGS

About 16 km from Seremban, lies the Pedas Hot Springs in the Rembau district. The hot water from the underground springs is believed by some to have good medicinal value, especially in cures for skin ailments and rheumatism. A visit to the hot springs will also bring the visitor through some of the traditional villages in the state as well as rubber plantations, one of the mainstays of the state's economy.

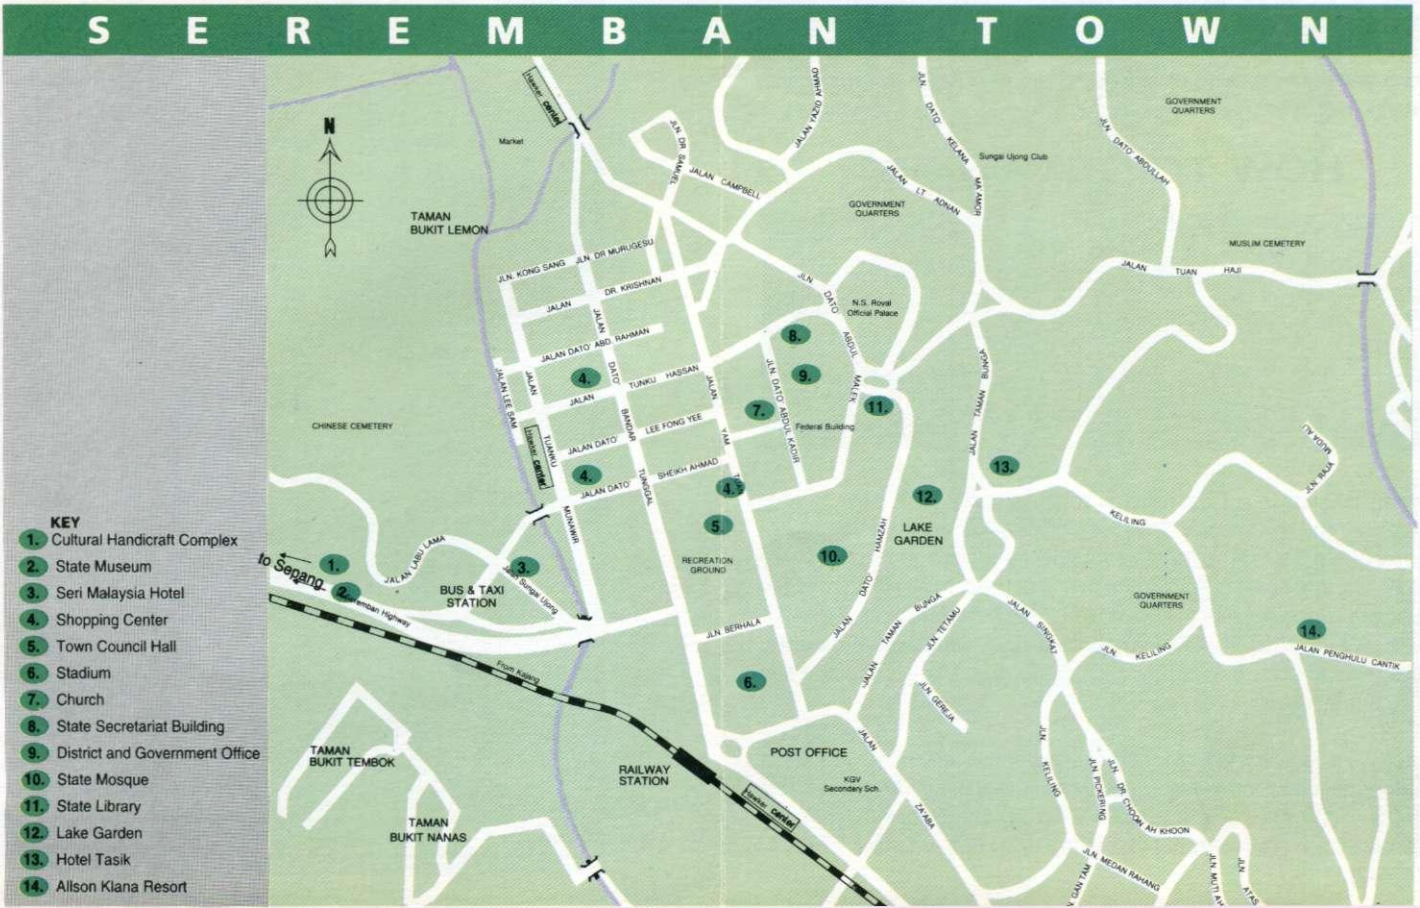

ULU BENDUL RECREATIONAL PARK

The Ulu Bendul Recreational Park located some 16 km from Seremban on the Kuala Pilah Sri Menanti route, at the foot of Bukit Angsi provides a welcome respite to the weary traveler. The park is one of the six recreational parks in Negeri Sembilan developed for ecotourism purposes. Picnic lovers should find this place inviting because of its shady and leafy surroundings.

The refreshing and cool water from the stream that meanders through the park offers a fun place for visitors bent on having a dip. For the more adventurous, they can go jungle-trekking. To savor the best out of this park, visitors may prefer to stay at the specially designated camping grounds or rent one of the chalets in the park.

NILAI

Nilai, in the northern part of the state, is turning out to be the center of growth in Negeri Sembilan. Its proximity to the new Kuala Lumpur International Airport in nearby Sepang district in Selangor has spawned a host of industrial development. Once a sleepy hollow, it is an interesting town to view contrasts of new development against the backdrop of the traditional village houses and the neat rows of old shophouses in town.

RECREATION

Negeri Sembilan boasts of several places for recreational sports. There are several golf clubs like the Seremban International Golf Club, Royal Sri Menanti Golf Club and the Bahau Golf Club. Many more golf courses are being developed to cater for the increasing popularity of the game. Some hotels in the state offer facilities for aerobics and physical work-outs as well as other pursuits like tennis, squash and swimming. In terms of spectator sport, soccer is among the popular ones. Some of the more exciting matches are played in Stadium Tuanku Abdul Rahman at Paroi in the outskirts of Seremban. Cricket and field hockey are two sports which people in Negeri Sembilan are known to excel in.

The favorite local sport is "sepak takraw" which is played with a rattan ball and according to rules almost similar to that of volleyball. A very speedy and fascinating game, it is usually played outdoors in the evenings.

ENTERTAINMENT

The better pubs and karaoke lounges are found in the more established hotels. The more popular pubs in Seremban offer a wide array of drinks and cocktails to suit the tastes of discerning drinkers. Top of the line karaoke lounges in Seremban are equipped with state of the art equipment including laser discs for those with a penchant for singing in public.

SHOPPING

Over the years, shopping has become a fun thing to do in Negeri Sembilan, especially in Seremban. It has a string of modern shopping complexes and department stores which can satisfy even the most demanding of shoppers. These include establishments like The Store, Parkson, Seremban Parade, Seremban City Square and Centre Point. Duty-free items like exquisite watches and sophisticated photographic equipment are widely available at competitive prices.

ACCOMMODATION

Seremban, offers the visitor a wide range of accommodation facilities, i.e., from an international class hotel to both medium and budget type hotels. Price currently start from as low as RM50 to more than RM200.

PORT DICKSON

INTRODUCTION

Port Dickson or more popularly known as PD has long been a weekend retreat for many inland dwellers, especially those from the city seeking to temporarily escape the hustle and bustle of a hectic life. Located about 32 km from Seremban, PD which is in the Pantai Laut district, offers one of the best beaches on the west coast of Peninsular Malaysia. All along the 18 km of beach front are shady casuarina trees that "sing" along with the gentle breeze.

Port Dickson usually comes alive in August each year during the "Pesta Port Dickson". Besides this, there are also cultural presentations at the annual festival. The most famous picnic spot in PD is the Blue Lagoon near Cape Rachado. One can easily reach the Blue Lagoon either by bus or taxi that ply along this popular coastal route from the main terminus in town.

PD boasts of many international class and budget accommodation, ranging from luxury establishments to simple guest houses. Currently, rates are from as low as RM80. Food stalls can be easily found along the beach as well as the town center. PD's specialty is seafood, be it Malay, Chinese or Western cuisine.

TANJONG TUAN
(CAPE RACHADO)

Near the Blue Lagoon is Tanjong Tuan, formerly known as Cape Rachado, renowned for its lighthouse built many years ago on a hillock overlooking the Straits of Melaka. On a clear day, one can see Port Dickson town and the outline of Sumatra across the Straits of Melaka from this vantage point.

BLUE LAGOON

About 15 km from Port Dickson town lies the Blue Lagoon which offers a breathtaking view of the surrounding greenery and the blue open sea. The lagoon is an ideal spot for swimming, boating, wind surfing and water skiing. This is where the action is when it comes to having fun in the sun. Accommodation is easily obtainable as a number of hotels and motels are located here.

FORT LUKUT

This fort, situated about 30 km from Seremban, is steep in history. Painstakingly built between 1826 and 1827 to be exact, its existence came into being during the heyday of the state's tin industry.

FORT KEMPAS

In Fort Kempas, about 23 km from Port Dickson, lies the grave of a leading historical personality, Keramat Ujong Pasir, Ulama Sheikh Ahmad Makhtum. Beside his grave are the famous stone inscriptions or "batu bersurat" which depict his struggle and history.

ACCOMMODATION

STATE MUSEUM

The state museum is a "must" item

SEREMBAN LAKE GARDENS

The Seremban Lake Gardens is one of the most picturesque gardens in the country. Its lush greenery and well-maintained lawns are a delight to the tired eye and often have a calming effect on many a weary soul.

There are jogging tracks in The Lake Gardens for the more energetic visitor while children can frolic in the playground. For those who are content to watch the world go by, this is just the place with benches erected in various spots overlooking the lake and greenery.

STATE LIBRARY

Situated in the vicinity of the Seremban Lake Gardens is the state library which used to be the State Secretariat Building. Built in 1912 by B.P. Habback of Britain with the assistance of the state Public Works Department, this stately building reflects the colonial architecture of a bygone era.

SRI MENANTI PALACE / ROYAL MUSEUM

Negeri Sembilan's rich traditions go back a long way. One of these has been manifested in the construction of the Sri Menanti Palace in Sri Menanti. Built at the turn of this century to replace an older palace which was burnt down, this uniquely constructed palace has now become a tourist attraction after it was turned into a Royal Museum in 1992.

The Sri Menanti Palace was the official residence of the royal family until 1931 when it was found to be inadequate for the growing functions of the state. Designed by two local craftsmen and carpenters, "Tukang Kahar" and "Tukang Taib", the wooden palace or "Istana Lama" (old palace), which was completed in about six years in 1908, was built without the aid of any nails or screws. The palace, which features 99 magnificent pillars to denote 99 warriors of various "luak" or clans, is often the subject of study and research among students of architecture.

NEGERI SEMBILAN

INTRODUCTION

Negeri Sembilan, which is just about 50 km south of the nation's capital, Kuala Lumpur, is one of the earliest tourism draws of the country. Thanks to the existence of a beach resort known as Port Dickson, it has received countless streams of visitors seeking fun and splash under the sun. With the completion of the Kuala Lumpur Seremban Highway which subsequently became part of the North South Expressway, accessibility into the state has improved considerably. One can also reach Seremban, the state capital, by rail and the town's railway station is one of the attractive landmarks in town.

M A L A Y S I A

Measuring 6,645 sq km, Negeri Sembilan offers more than just beaches. There is a little bit of everything for everyone, from the history buff right to the nature lover. A first time visitor to Negeri Sembilan would perhaps be drawn to the significant feature of a great majority of traditional houses which have the distinctive style of the Minangkabau people who had migrated across the Straits of Melaka from Sumatra centuries ago. Their traditional houses consist of sweeping buffalo horn shaped roof peaks and such features have even been incorporated in newer buildings like the State Mosque and the State Secretariat Building.

Interestingly, the Minangkabaus of Negeri Sembilan still practice the matrilineal social system known as the "adat perpatih" making the state the only one to adhere to such social norms.

PLACES OF INTEREST

CULTURAL HANDICRAFT COMPLEX

The Complex, which has been modeled along the traditional Minangkabau dwelling, is located on a four-hectare site along Jalan Labu. Various handicraft items and historical artifacts are on display in this Complex which seeks to preserve Negeri Sembilan's rich cultural traditions.

STATE MUSEUM

The state museum is a "must" item for local history lovers. Located within the grounds of the Cultural Handicraft Complex, it is actually an old wooden palace which has been reassembled for public viewing. Built entirely of wood, this palace which has seen greater days of royal splendor at its old site at Kampung Ampang Tinggi, houses various old and historical artifacts which will interest those with a keen eye for local history, like weapons as well as brass and silverware. Also on display is a tableau portraying a grand royal wedding.

Situated next to the state museum is the "Rumah Minang", depicting an actual Minangkabau house. Also found at the Complex grounds are the megaliths from Fort Kempas.

STATE MOSQUE

The state mosque is adorned with nine pillars to symbolize the seven districts. Described as one of the most attractive modern mosques in the country, it offers a scenic view of the Seremban Lake amid the tranquility of its surroundings.

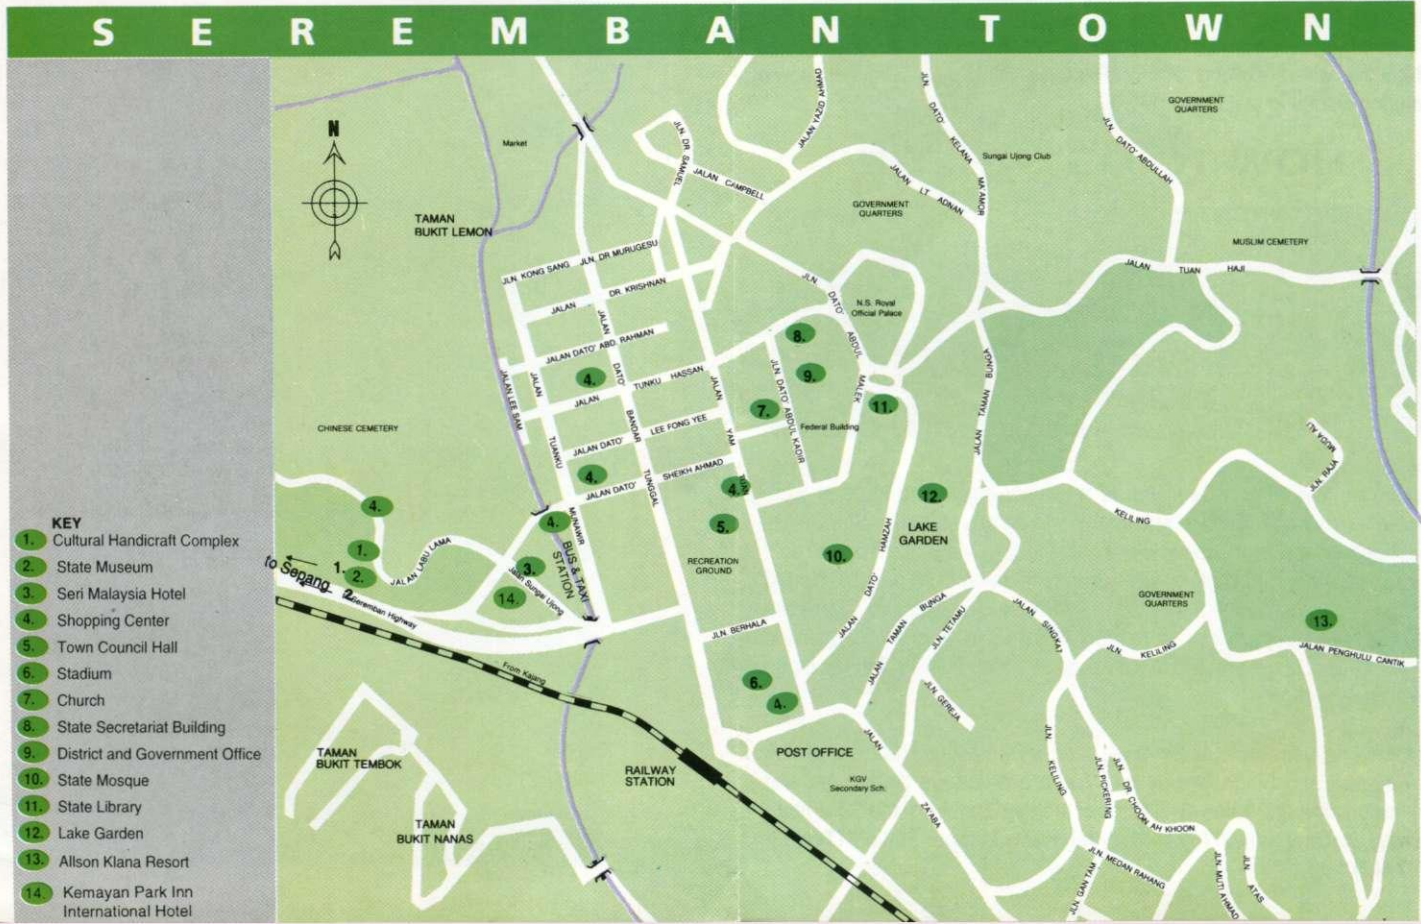

ULU BENDUL RECREATIONAL PARK

The Ulu Bendul Recreational Park located some 16 km from Seremban on the Kuala Pilah Sri Menanti route, at the foot of Bukit Angsi provides a welcome respite to the weary traveler. The park is one of the six recreational parks in Negeri Sembilan developed for ecotourism purposes. Picnic lovers should find this place inviting because of its shady and leafy surroundings.

The refreshing and cool water from the stream that meanders through the park offers a fun place for visitors bent on having a dip. For the more adventurous, they can go jungle-trekking. To savor the best out of this park, visitors may prefer to stay at the specially designated camping grounds or rent one of the chalets in the park.

Seremban

Nilai, in the northern part of the state, is turning out to be the center of growth in Negeri Sembilan. Its proximity to the new Kuala Lumpur International Airport in nearby Sepang district in Selangor has spawned a host of industrial development. Once a sleepy hollow, it is an interesting town to view contrasts of new development against the backdrop of the traditional village houses and the neat rows of old shophouses in town.

Negeri Sembilan boasts of several places for recreational sports. There are several golf clubs like the Seremban International Golf Club, Royal Sri Menanti Golf Club and the Bahau Golf Club. Many more golf courses are being developed to cater for the increasing popularity of the game. Some hotels in the state offer facilities for aerobics and physical work-outs as well as other pursuits like tennis, squash and swimming. In terms of spectator sport, soccer is among the popular ones. Some of the more exciting matches are played in Stadium Tuanku Abdul Rahman at Paroi in the outskirts of Seremban. Cricket and field hockey are two sports which people in Negeri Sembilan are known to excel in.

The favorite local sport is "sepak takraw" which is played with a rattan ball and according to rules almost similar to that of volleyball. A very speedy and fascinating game, it is usually played outdoors in the evenings.

ENTERTAINMENT

The better pubs and karaoke lounges are found in the more established hotels. The more popular pubs in Seremban offer a wide array of drinks and cocktails to suit the tastes of discerning drinkers. Top of the line karaoke lounges in Seremban are equipped with state of the art equipment including laser discs for those with a penchant for singing in public.

SHOPPING

Over the years, shopping has become a fun thing to do in Negeri Sembilan, especially in Seremban. It has a string of modern shopping complexes and department stores which can satisfy even the most demanding of shoppers. These include establishments like The Store, Parkson, Seremban Parade, Seremban City Square and Centre

Point. Duty-free items like exquisite watches and sophisticated photographic equipment are widely available at competitive prices.

ACCOMMODATION

Seremban, offers the visitor a wide range of accommodation facilities, i.e., from an international class hotel to both medium and budget type hotels. Price currently start from as low as RM50 to more than RM200.

PORT DICKSON

INTRODUCTION

Port Dickson or more popularly known as PD has long been a weekend retreat for many inland dwellers, especially those from the city seeking to temporarily escape the hustle and bustle of a hectic life. Located about 32 km from Seremban, PD which is in the Pantai Laut district, offers one of the best beaches on the west coast of Peninsular Malaysia. All along the 18 km of beach front are shady casuarina trees that "sing" along with the gentle breeze.

Port Dickson usually comes alive in August each year during the "Pesta Port Dickson". Besides this, there are also cultural presentations at the annual festival. The most famous picnic spot in PD is the Blue Lagoon near Cape Rachado. One can easily reach the Blue Lagoon either by bus or taxi that ply along this popular coastal route from the main terminus in town.

PD boasts of many international class and budget accommodation, ranging from luxury establishments to simple guest houses. Currently, rates are from as low as RM80. Food stalls can be easily found along the beach as well as the town center. PD's specialty is seafood, be it Malay, Chinese or Western cuisine.

(CAPE RACHADO)

Near the Blue Lagoon is Tanjong Tuan, formerly known as Cape Rachado, renowned for its lighthouse built many years ago on a hillock overlooking the Straits of Melaka. On a clear day, one can see Port Dickson town and the outline of Sumatra across the Straits of Melaka from this vantage point.

BLUE LAGOON

About 15 km from Port Dickson town lies the Blue Lagoon which offers a breathtaking view of the surrounding greenery and the blue open sea. The lagoon is an ideal spot for swimming, boating, wind surfing and water skiing. This is where the action is when it comes to having fun in the sun. Accommodation is easily obtainable as a number of hotels and motels are located here.

FORT LUKUT

This fort, situated about 30 km from Seremban, is steep in history. Painstakingly built between 1826 and 1827 to be exact, its existence came into being during the heyday of the state's tin industry.

FORT KEMPAS

In Fort Kempas, about 23 km from Port Dickson, lies the grave of a leading historical personality, Keramat Ujong Pasir, Ulama Sheikh Ahmad Makhtum. Beside his grave are the famous stone inscriptions or "batu bersurat" which depict his struggle and history.

ACCOMMODATION

Choosing a place to stay in Port Dickson should pose no problem for the visitor. This resort town has several types of accommodation to offer, ranging from comfortable beach hotels to spacious chalets. Those who are used to the comforts of good hotel accommodation can choose to stay at the beach hotels or apartments. Or they can choose from budget dwellings which are found in the town center or along the coastal road. For further information please contact the District Council, Tel: 06-6471335 / 6471122 or Tourism Malaysia.

HOW TO GET THERE

There are many buses and taxis that will take visitors to their desired destinations in this resort town or to other places in the state. Prices are reasonable. Enquiries can be made at the ticket counters of the bus and taxi stations in Port Dickson.

EATING OUT

The specialty of Port Dickson is sea food. Food lovers can choose from a variety of tempting offers ranging from Western style cuisine to local fare. Food is usually fresh as the catch is often hauled straight from the fishermen's nets in the nearby fishing villages.

RECREATION

Some hotels in Port Dickson offer facilities for water sports like yachting, canoeing, boating, water skiing and para sailing. Other water sports like tennis and squash are also available. Those who choose to know the area better can go

EATING OUT

Eating out in Negeri Sembilan is usually an enjoyable experience as there is a wide variety to choose from. Western fare is easily available in top-notch restaurants while local cuisine is found throughout the state. Chinese and Indian cuisine in Negeri Sembilan also rank high among gourmets.

For those who love hot and spicy Malay food, the dishes found in Negeri Sembilan are usually done according to the Minangkabau tradition which often see a generous portion of "cili padi" (small hot chillies) being used. Among the hot favorite is "masak lemak cili api", a dish made from coconut milk blended with tumeric powder and ground "cili api" added to fish, meat or vegetables.

Another specialty of Negeri Sembilan is the "lemang" glutinous rice cooked in coconut milk and served with "rendang", a curried meat dish. These local delicacies can be found at many roadside stalls in the state. The usual yardstick for seeking out above average fare is to observe the number of patrons, the better the number, so is the food.

There are several fine restaurants for dining in style at some of the hotels in Seremban. In addition, the town also offers other eating establishments which are within walking distance and serve a wide array of mouth watering dishes to suit every palate.

HOW TO GET THERE

Moving around Negeri Sembilan is relatively easy. The state is well-served by road and rail links. The spanking new bus station in Seremban, described as the most colorful in the country in view of its bright bold colors, is usually a hive of activity with buses going to all parts of Negeri Sembilan as well as the major towns of Peninsular Malaysia. Taxis are also easy to come by. Prices are reasonable. Enquiries can be made at the ticket counters of the bus and taxi stations at Jalan Tuanku Munawir and Jalan Sungai Ujong Seremban is also connected to other parts of Peninsular Malaysia as well as Bangkok and Singapore by rail. There are various departures and arrivals on different trains at all times of the day. Enquire at the Seremban Railway Station (Tel: 06-7622141) or the Kuala Lumpur Station (Tel: 03-2747442).

Seremban, is steep in history. Painstakingly built between 1826 and 1827 to be exact, its existence came into being during the heyday of the state's tin industry.

Located about a kilometer from the Seremban-Port Dickson trunk road, Fort Lukut was built by Raja Jumaat to provide a safe haven during more turbulent times in the state's history. The fort has now become another tourist attraction for Negeri Sembilan. Traveling to Fort Lukut will bring the visitor past many neatly-planted rows of rubber trees and oil palms, which are among the mainstays of the state's economy.

Some hotels in Port Dickson offer facilities for water sports like yachting, canoeing, boating, water skiing and para sailing. Other water sports like tennis and squash are also available. Those who choose to know the area better can go jungle trekking in the nearby hills.
